

C. H. S. SENIORS PROMINENT IN ALL ACTIVITIES

Boys of Class Excel in Basketball and Football—Girls Have Best Scholarship.

CRESSET WAS SUCCESS

87 Per Cent of Students Plan Higher Education in Columbia—Three Will Be Teachers.

One hundred students will be graduated from Columbia High School Wednesday. 61 per cent of these are girls while only 39 per cent are boys. There are eighteen more in the graduating class this year than last year when 82 were graduated. Only 33 1-3 per cent were boys or 24 in all, and forty-eight of them, or twice as many were girls. Three years ago about sixty-four were in the graduating class. Miss Sadie M. Stean, principal of Columbia High School, says that there has been an increase in the graduating classes of from twenty to thirty the past three and four years, and the more noticeable additions came during the war and after.

Seventy-six of these one hundred seniors started with the class in the Freshman year.

Out of the fortunate one hundred, it is appreciable that 87 per cent are expecting to attend the University, Stephens or Christian College; 96 per cent of the boys, or thirty of the thirty-nine, will attend the University of Missouri, and 74 1-2 per cent of the girls, or forty-four of the sixty-one, will attend the University. Two of the remaining nine of the boys will go to western universities. Five boys are undecided, but it is thought they will continue their work in some school. Only two boys have definitely decided not to continue their schooling. Three of the girls have taken the teachers' examinations and passed them. They are now negotiating with some rural schools for positions. They are Misses Nancy Gibbs, Ruth Barber and Ola Smith. Fourteen of the girls have not fully decided what they will do. Christian College will probably get one from the class, as will also Stephens College.

This year's class took unusual interest in outside activities, which was, says Miss Stean, a detriment to the scholarship of the class as a whole. However, a few made the usual good grades. Miss Lucie Jacobs was chosen as valedictorian of her class. The honor of salutatorian is to be conferred on Miss Mary Buffum. The next right standing highest, in their respective order, are: Creal Mancavins, Emma Lee Kelly, Mariam Williams, Sybil Johnson, Joe Thornton, Virginia Hale, Virginia Boswell and Ola Smith. These ten were chosen only from the twenty-six who were in the Columbia High School for the four years. Their grades all average above 85 to 90.

Since the senior class took such an active interest in the school's outside activities, some of the popular men in athletics will leave vacancies on the teams. The entire basketball team was composed of seniors with one exception, a sophomore, Basil Gwin. This team was a record breaker for the school and was one of the best Columbia High School has turned out for some time. The class holds many letter men, among them Cecil Coggins, who was captain of the football team this year. He has two letters in track and two in football. Reginald Underhill takes with him a letter in basketball and football. George Woodworth, who for the year held the place of center on the football team, and has a letter in football, graduates. Howard Everhart has three letters in basketball, in which he distinguished himself as a guard, and also has a letter in football. William Stephenson has a letter in football as also does Harlan Hubbard, who received one letter each in basketball and football. Hubbard is primarily noted in the High School for his leadership in Columbia High School's enthusiastic songs and yells this year.

Russell was not a major sport this year, although the senior class took an active interest in it and there was much interclass rivalry. The seniors had the only well organized team.

In the debating teams, two members are of the senior class: Cyril Coggins and Harold Streeter. The remaining two members are juniors. Miss Lillian Morris is the only senior girl member of the Girls' Debating Squad. Much active interest was given to debating this year and it is expected that next year quite a few more will try out. It has been just a new introduction into the Columbia High School, and the interest that was taken portrayed a good spirit of linking up school work with outside activities.

Musical talent seems to be almost void in the senior class, if we are to take their small number of only four members out of an orchestra of from thirty to sixty as a criterion for their musical inclinations. However, Harold Streeter, who is one of the most versatile members, being a do-bater, writer, poet, and cartoonist, composed a song for Columbia High School, which, Miss Stean says, is to be "our own." The song follows:

"From far and near, we gather here;
True sons of the Purple and Gold.
Let voices blend in a song of cheer
To the school that entwines us in her fold;

A song of love for our old high;
A love that can never die.
For that love shall speak, when we journey far,
And the days of our youth have flitted by.

"Let us praise thee, aye forever!
"Let us praise thee; We that love thee;
Hail Columbia; Alma Mater;
Hail Columbia; Columbia High.

"Nor age nor fame shall blur the name
Of our High School long after we are gone;

And rich or poor may we all proclaim
Of the untarnished glory she has won.
So here's a cheer for our old high;
Long may her banner fly;
Here's a round of praise for our high school days
And a faith that shall never, never die."

The Cresset, the annual publication and the climax of the year's activities, put out by the senior class each year, came out last Wednesday. It was dedicated to Miss Sadie M. Stean with the following words:

"With sincere appreciation of her loyal support, and her interest in all High School students and student activities, we do gratefully dedicate this volume of the Cresset."

The Cresset was a financial success. All of the extra copies have been sold. According to Supp. W. I. Oliver, it is considered among the students as the best Cresset put out for many years. The complicated business of this book was carried out most successfully by Roy Quinn, while the clever arrangement of material was prepared by Allen Belden, its editor.

The officers who carried the class through the last lap were William Oliver, president; Harlan Hubbard, vice-president; and Helen Douglas, secretary and treasurer.

An elaborate program has been arranged for commencement, and the school is fortunate in having secured Uel W. Lamkin, former state superintendent of public schools of Missouri, and now located in Washington, D. C., with the Federal Board of Vocational Education. The music will be furnished by the high school orchestra and a selected group from the glee clubs. The diplomas will be awarded by F. W. Niedermeyer, president of the school board. Mrs. J. E. Thornton will award the American History Prize offered by the local chapter of the D. A. R., which will be given to the valedictorian. Lottie Jacobs, Mrs. W. P. Dyant will award a prize of $10 from the W. C. T. U. to a senior not yet chosen for an essay on an assigned subject. A prize is given to each of the classes by the W. C. T. U. and will be announced the night of the graduating exercises.

DENVER HAS MUSIC WEEK

City Will Devote Next Seven Days to Musical Activities.

DENVER, May 16.—All Denver is whistling, humming or singing, wherever you go this week—Denver's Music Week.

Beginning today, thirty-four separate types of concerts will be given in the city auditorium, the civic center, churches, theatres and clubs. High school orchestras and glee clubs, amateur and professional musicians and community choruses will combine to make this Denver's most tuneful week.

Community singing will be held in factories, stores, city fire stations, music stores and charitable institutions. A municipal chorus of 300 will sing.
